

Wrong Road Again

John Hartford

Key of A

A                    D                    A
I can't seem to learn not to love you
                  E                    A
You get to me every time
                  D                    A
Your someone I just can't say no to
                  E                    A
Your so good at changing my mind

Chorus:

A                    D                    A
Here I go down that wrong road again
                  E                    A
Going back to where I've already been
                  D                    A
Even knowing where it will end
                  E                    A
Here I go down that wrong road again

Instrumental:

A                    D                    A
Although I see this web that you're weaving
                  E                    A
You and your soft easy lines
                  D                    A
Before I stop to think I'm believing
                  E                    A
And falling for you one more time

Chorus: