

You'll Never Know

Harry Warren and Mack Gordon

You'll never know just how much I miss you.
You'll never know just how much I care.

And if I tried, I still couldn't hide my love for you.
You ought to know, for haven't I told you so
A million or more times?

You went away and my heart went with you.
I speak your name in my every prayer.
If there is some other way to prove that I love you
I swear I don't know how.
You'll never know if you don't know now.

(You went away and my heart went with you.
I speak your name in my every prayer.)
If there is some other way to prove that I love you
I swear I don't know how.
You'll never know if you don't know now.
You'll never know if you don't know now.

"You'll Never Know," with music by Harry Warren and lyrics by Mack Gordon, was introduced in the 1943 movie Hello, Frisco, Hello, where it was sung by Alice Faye. The song won the 1943 Academy Award for Best Original Song, one of nine nominated songs that year. It was also performed by Faye in the 1944 film Four Jills in a Jeep.

The song was recorded in 1943 by Frank Sinatra and Dick Haymes, among others. A recording by Vera Lynn was popular during the ongoing Second World War.

Rosemary Clooney recorded the song with Harry James in 1952, and a version was recorded in 1954 by Big Maybelle. It was the first song that Barbra Streisand ever recorded, in 1955 when she was 13 years old. Bing Crosby recorded it for his radio show in 1957, and Doris Day recorded a version in her two-album set Hooray for Hollywood in 1958.
