

RED SAILS IN THE SUNSET

Red sails in the sunset, way out on the sea
Oh, carry my loved one home safely to me.
She sailed at the dawning, all day I've been blue.
Red sails in the sunset, I'm trusting in you.

Swift wings you must borrow
Make straight for the shore.
We marry tomorrow,
And she goes sailing no more.

Red sails in the sunset, way out on the sea
Oh, carry my loved one home safely to me.

Swift wings you must borrow
Make straight for the shore.
We marry tomorrow,
And she goes sailing no more.

Red sails in the sunset, way out on the sea.
Oh, carry my loved one home safely to me.

Popular versions in 1935 were by Bing Crosby, Guy Lombardo and Mantovani.
The song was revived by Nat King Cole in 1951. The Platters had a Top-40 hit in 1960.
